FLOORING XTRA

The XpertPro collection fuses style, simplicity, quality and value across the most popular flooring categories, sourced from the world's best flooring manufacturers.

Timber

There's nothing like the real thing and the XpertPro Wellington range is indeed that with authentic European Oak, prefinished with high performance coatings and featuring genuine Uniclic joins. Engineered timber flooring makes for fast installation and enhanced dimensional stability.

WELLINGTON

When only genuine timber flooring will do, Wellington is available in a range of 12 designer colours.

Hybrid

Rigid vinyl panels that are completely waterproof. The XpertPro Hybrid collection has been selected for its dimensional stability and genuine Uniclic joins. Available in three on-trend ranges.

MERSEYSIDE CLASSIC

Classic hues and subtle grains in a 1500mm long and 180mm wide panel dimension.

MERSEYSIDE XXL

Long and wide hybrid planks (1800mm x 225mm) ideal for any residential or moderate commercial installation.

MERSEYSIDE VISTA

Budget-conscious projects deserve quality and style which Merseyside Vista provides in abundance. A perfect solution for apartments and rental properties. 1220mm x 180mm hybrid planks are waterproof and easy to maintain.

Laminate

Stylish timber-look flooring with a super resilient surface that's resistant to wear, scratching, staining & indentations. XpertPro offers three laminate collections, each with its own unique style and list of features.

DUNDEE

Cost effective laminate flooring that's easy to install with genuine Uniclic joins.

MORAY

Stunning range of laminate with a waterproof surface and 3 Year Water Damage Warranty.

SUTHERLAND

Long and wide boards with stunning surface textures that make any room look more spacious.

Timber

Over the last two decades, the popularity of engineered timber flooring has grown exponentially the world over. Put simply, nothing is quite as beautiful or adds as much value to your home or environment than a real timber floor. Leading the race for the most stunning, versatile and popular timber species during this period has been European Oak.

Whilst it is more expensive than other flooring types that attempt to imitate it's natural beauty, sometimes there's just nothing like the real thing! Apart from colour and design, important considerations when looking to purchase a timber floor should include the raw material sourcing and environmental credentials, the coating used to pre-finish the panels, the quality of the click joining system and the warranty offered on the product.

TIMBER

Wellington

Genuine European Oak, stained in a range of the timeless colours and pre-finished with market leading performance UV lacquers, the Wellington range is designed for performance and supported by leading product warranties. Whilst usually installed as a floating floor, Wellington can also be directly stuck to a well prepared subfloor.

Hybrid

Hybrid flooring, sometimes called rigid flooring, has grown significantly in popularity since hitting the market in the mid 2010's. Completely waterproof, hybrid flooring offers great levels of resistance to staining, fading and scratching. Hybrid planks can be installed in any area of the home and are available in a wide variety of colours and plank sizes.

Apart from colour and design, important considerations when looking to purchase a hybrid floor should include the dimensional stability of the panels, the quality of the click joining system and the warranty offered on the product.

HYBRID

Merseyside Classic

At 1500mm long, Merseyside Classic is longer than most other hybrid floors, adding a more stylish appeal to your interior. Featuring excellent dimensional stability and the world's best glue-less joining system Uniclic®, Merseyside Classic is sold with a 20 year residential wear warranty for extra peace of mind.
