- Near an external door where natural light pours into the room.
- Under a leg of a table or chair to check for compatibility with timber finishes.
- Against a skirting board or painted wall where the sample will complement the finish.
- In a hallway that has wall lights, this is the harshest light to cast shadows.
- Up against any existing flooring, do the patterns or textures match?
- Draped over stairs where you can see how the riser shadows the tread.
- Under any full length curtains, check the impact texture and pattern have on sample.
- Where a combination of incandescent, halogen and fluorescent lights are in the same room, place your sample directly under the light shaft.
